BOMBARD TURK PORTS

Chance for Italy to Begin Fighting Is Growing Less Likely.—Ypres
Again Is Target—
Other News.

The assault on the Dardanelles is being renewed, although it is not apparent whether the allies' forces are ready to begin the expected general attack. Four British warships entered the straits yesterday and bombarded the Turkish forts, which were subjected also to indirect fire across the peninsula from the Gulf of Saros. The result of this fighting has not been disclosed. Bombardment of the Turkish forts at Smyrna, Aesla Minor, site is believed to have been resumed. There is nothing to indicate, however, that any move has been made toward an attack by the forces landed off the Gulf of Saros.

An official report from British headquarters in the field says that the persistent efforts of the Germans to win back Hill No. 60, the position near Ypres which the British captured recently, for the time being has ceased.

A Petrograd dispatch says that Russian aviators inflicted considerable damage by attacks on German positions at several points.

ROME, April 23.—A prominent Italian statesman said today that the participation of Italy in the war, at least in the immediate future, seemed less likely than had been the case for some time.

"To enter the war, Italy would first be obliged to break off negotiations with the central empires still being conducted at Vienna," he explained. The government then would have to find a plausible reason for denouncing the treaty which created the triple alliance. Even were that done, it is most likely the central empires under the present conditions would not consider such action as cause for war.

Italy must find another reason if she desires to pick a quarrel with Austria. This might be in the form of an ultimatum on account of gathering of Austrian troops along the Italian frontier, or on account of the unfortunate position of Italians under Austrian rule. It is easy to foresee, however, that Austria would attempt to give Italy satisfaction in every possible way.

Along the Ypres.

London, April 23.—The city of Ypres, whose historic structures were shattered by German shells last October, again is the target of heavy fire. Huge seventeen inch missiles are now being used and unless the civilian population has fled or taken to the cellars, the losses among the people must be heavy.

No official explanation is coming of the stoppage of traffic between England and Holland. One theory is said that this is a stroke aimed at spires and another that the area is being cleared for navigation. The latter explanation seemed incomprehensible, in that if steps were taken to clear the seas from marine shells on vessels running to Scandinavian ports would be also held up.

Although Great Britain is silent, Germany apparently is expecting extensive land operations near the Dardanelles, and it is common knowledge the troops of the allies' forces are being landed in European Turkey.

Trawler Sunken.

GRIMSBY, England, April 23.—The Grimsby trawler St. Lawrence was torpedoed and sunk in the North sea yesterday by a German submarine. Two members of the crew were killed. Seven survivors were brought here today by the trawler Queenstown, whose skipper reports the submarine fired on its vessel while engaged in securing the crew of the St. Lawrence, sunken.

Petrograd, April 23.—The Russian Black sea torpedo boat squadron bombarded the Turkish coast between Archava and Artaschin on April 19. This fifteen mile strip of coast, in which was located the quarters of the Turkish army operating in this region, was swept with shells and the barracks and provision stores were destroyed. A large number of Turkish troops were laden with ammunition and supplies were sunk.

Driven Back.

Turkish land forces were initiating a sortie under cover of their artillery at the time. They were thrown into a panic by the unsuspected bombardment from the sea, and their supporting guns were immediately silenced. On April 20 all Turkish efforts to start an offensive in this region ceased.

Other minor engagements are reported to exist in Prussian front. Near Memel the seaport in the northern extremity of the East Prussian province, a Russian mounted force clashed with the German patrol and the Germans were driven back.

London, April 23.—There was given out in London this morning the regular semi-weekly report on conditions at the front. It is dated April 22, and reads:

The German attack on Hill No. 60 which had stopped at the time of issuing the report of last Monday, has been renewed several times. These attacks all failed and for the time being they have been defeated. We hold the entire crest of the hill and deny its use to the enemy, who have attached great importance to it.

There is not and there never has been any truth in the German official communication that the enemy had recaptured this position. During the operations around Hill No. 60 the enemy fired shells seventeen inches in diameter into the town of Ypres.

On April 19 in the neighborhood of La Bassie the enemy exploded two mines opposite our right. They failed to do damage to our trenches. Having discovered German mining operations in the neighborhood of De Touquet, near Armentieres, we forced all their efforts this morning by exploding a mine which we had prepared there.

On April 19th one of our airmen carried out a very good and successful single handed attack on an airship shed near Ghent. He had to run a gauntlet of fire from the ground, directed by a captive balloon, in order to attack his objective. In spite of this he came down within two hundred feet of the ground and effected his object, causing a serious explosion in the shed.

Russian Warships.

London, April 23.—A Reuter dispatch from Petrograd says:

"There was much activity yesterday on the part of Russian airships. One dropped fifteen bombs on Plock. Several German boats, as were railroad stations and trains.

Heavy Firing.

Paris, April 23.—A Bremen dispatch from Athens says that advices received from Chios stated that heavy firing had been heard there since yesterday (Thursday) morning, which leads to the supposition that the bombardment of Smyrna forts has been resumed. Four British warships entered the Dardanelles yesterday and bombarded the forts for three hours. The Turkish fortifications also were subjected to indirect fire from the Gulf of Saros. They replied vigorously to attacks of the warships. French mine sweepers are continuing operations actively.

No New Engagements.

Paris, via London, April 23.—The official report on the news of hostilities given out by the French war office contains no news not conveyed in the report of last night.

New York, April 23.—For the purpose of insuring wireless communications between Germany and the United States under all kinds of static conditions, the power of the Telefunken wireless station at Sayville, Long Island, it was learned today, has been almost trebled. Through this the German government transmits most of its official communications to the United States, and the German embassy communicates with Berlin. Many official war bulletins from the German capital are received at the Sayville station.

THREE ENGLISH NURSES
GIVEN ORDER MEDALS
BY BELGIUM RULER.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

DUNKIRK, France, April 23.—King Albert of Belgium has presented the Order of Leopold II. to three nurses of the English Red Cross contingent for bravery under fire in rescuing several wounded Belgians from the trenches.

The names of the three nurses are: Miss Muriel Thompson, Miss Margaret Smith, Sister Mary White.

The three nurses have gone up to the rear line of trenches during a period of quiet, and were asked by an officer to go to the front trenches to assist a slightly injured soldier. While they were in the front trenches there came a sudden artillery attack by the enemy, and several Belgians were killed and wounded.

An officer ordered the three nurses to go back to safety at once, but they refused to go, as they had attended to some of the wounded who were near them. They then found a stretcher, and with the aid of a man carried two of the wounded back to safety under heavy fire.

King Albert, in pinning the decorations on the three, made a short speech paying a high tribute to the work being done by women in the present war.

SEW MUSTARD SEEDS
OVER CHALK TRENCHES.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARVE, April 23.—An ingenious use of the arrival of spring is being made by gardeners in the trenches in chalk districts of France. It has always been very difficult to conceal the exact line of the trenches in this district, because the white chalk was laid bare wherever the soil was disturbed. The gardeners are now employing mustard and other small seeds. These seeds, being small, gather in the surface of the chalk and quickly cover them with vegetation.

TELL OF DISASTER
ON N. Y. ARRIVALCaptain Dalton and 25 Members of Crew of American Steamer
Greenbrier Land at Gotham Port.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, April 23.—Captain J. Dalton and twenty-five members of the crew of the American steamer Greenbrier, sunk April 2 by a mine in the North Sea, reached New York today aboard the steamer Rotterdam, from Rotterdam.

After discharging at Bremen her cargo of cotton from New Orleans the Greenbrier sailed March 29 on the return trip. On April 2 members of the crew said today, an explosion caused by a mine occurred near the vessel's stern. The Greenbrier sank like a stone, giving the crew barely time to launch two boats and escape with only the clothes they wore. Fifteen hours were spent in the boat in open sea before the crew reached the German coast. Upon landing they were cared for by the authorities and sent to Rotterdam by train. All bands were used.

The Greenbrier was the first cotton ship to leave an American port for Germany after war was declared. She was taken to Kirkwall by a British warship and released after examination.

Captain F. D. Rockenbach and S. G. Shantz, United States officers with the German forces as observers, and P. M. Kuehne, a courier of the German diplomatic service on his way to Washington, also were passengers on the Rotterdam.

Dallas, Texas, April 23.—Twenty persons, perhaps more, it was estimated today, met death late yesterday and last night in a rain, electrical and wind storm, general over nearly all Texas and eastern Oklahoma. Resultant floods have interrupted communication by rail and wire. In some parts of the storm the wind and rain continues today. Austin felt the greatest fury of the tempests which in places reached cyclonic proportions.

Houses were jammed in masses against the bridges, and high water flooded the business houses. Heroic work was done by citizens, fire departments, and fire and police departments. Eight persons in one house which was swept down Waller Creek, all but one are believed to have perished.

Others Drowned.

The dead in this house are: Mrs. C. S. Ezell, Albert Edwin Ezell, aged nine; Mrs. Martha King, Virginia Ezell, aged 50; Harvey King, aged 20; Mr. and Mrs. King, a couple, and Helen King, C. Ezell, a barber, and a woman. Ezell, a carpenter, believed to have drowned are: Mr. and Mrs. Winkler, an aged couple; Tom Quinn, a fireman, was engaged in rescue work; William and Rachael Curtis, two Leonard brothers, and some Mexican and negroes.

Heavy property damage, telephone and telegraph communication interrupted, and railroad schedules disarranged by washouts, soft tracks and threatened bridges, is also reported. The wind in some sections of the storm some reached almost cyclonic proportions. The dead are:

Christabel, Texas—H. C. Goldwire, killed by lightning.

Lansdale, Texas—W. L. Boynton, killed in train wreck.

Austin, Texas—Six negroes drowned in Waller Creek.

Amsterdam, April 23.—The summoning of Carl Liebknecht, the German Socialist leader, to serve in the Landsturm Regiments.

Carl Liebknecht, German Socialist leader, to serve in the Landsturm regiments in the supreme court here. Theodore Roosevelt said he had regarded William Barnes as a "sort of Dr. Jeckle and Mr. Hyde, who like other politicians had his good and bad sides."

The colonel did not suggest that Barnes was to be tried for his political activities, but he did not suggest that Barnes was to be tried for his political activities.

Liebknecht is 43 years old. He served as a young man in a civil service for three years, and thence passing successively into the Reserve and Landsturm. The other men of his particular class have not been called.

The Government lost no time in sending Liebknecht away once this move had been decided upon. On the very evening of the day on which the Reichstag adjourned, a soldier in uniform appeared at the Socialist leader's residence in Charlottenburg with an official order directing Liebknecht to report himself "for inspection" at the headquarters of his Landsturm regiment the next morning.

Liebknecht promptly donned his uniform and presented himself as directed. The officer in charge received him with great courtesy and passed him on to the medical inspector. The Socialist was found sound and healthy and was drafted without delay for active service in Lorraine.

The man who had been the leader of the little anti-war group in the Reichstag was now a simple private, and occupied day and night with the tasks allotted him by his officers.

MYSTERIOUS FIRE ON REICHSTEIG FARM AT EARLY HOUR TODAY

Loss Estimated at Seventy-two Hundred.—Thirty-five Head of Cattle, Two Barns and Equipment Go Up in Smoke.

Fire, which was discovered shortly after four this morning on the Reichsteig farm, fifteen miles east of Janesville and a half mile from Utica, where the two farms were owned by the Reichsteig and Whittemore, did some seventy-two hundred dollars worth of damage, including the loss of a large cattle barn, a horse barn, tool shed and granary and thirty-five head of fine bred Durham cattle.

The blaze was discovered in the cattle barn and despite the fact that an alarm was sent over the telephone to the neighbors, the entire structure was burned to the ground and the horse barn adjacent destroyed and the rest of the buildings in the immediate vicinity destroyed. Twelve head of valuable horses in the horse barn were taken out safely but thirty-five head of fine Durham cattle, including some twenty milch cows, were burned to death, it being impossible to save them.

Had the wind been from the northeast instead of the southwest nothing could have saved the house and other structures, which were threatened many times by flying embers. The origin of the fire is a mystery. It apparently started in the cattle barn, and it is thought was of incendiary origin. This is substantiated by the fact that a valuable bull, left last night in a box stall securely tied, and which slept all across the hall and both in a barn, was locked last evening by the owner who was in the pasture without any sign of ropes, while the doors of the cattle barn were still locked and the rest of the cattle perished.

One hundred bushels of rye and barley were saved by being dumped into wagons and on the ground while the fire was raging, but the remainder of the hay and grain was destroyed. The silo still stands, as do the basement walls of the two barns, but the structures are entirely gone and it is estimated that the loss on these and their contents, exclusive of cattle, will be four thousand two hundred to five hundred dollars. The insurance is but two thousand dollars.

The cattle were valued at something like two thousand dollars, and consisted of twenty head of fine milch cows and the rest heifers who were expected to be milkers in a short time. The corn crib and containing the hog pen, the farmhouse itself, all valued at some fifteen thousand dollars, were not damaged. An investigation is being made as to the cause of the fire.

BOB FISHER BATTING STRONG FOR CHICAGO

Fills Hole at Short for Bresnahan and is Leading the Club With Stick Work.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Chicago, April 23.—Bob Fisher was discarded from the Brooklyn Dodgers two years ago because he was supposed to be a weakling with the bat. He also lacked "pepper." This, at least, was what President Ebbets said, and as a consequence the shortstop was sent to the Toronto club of the International League.

Fisher did not worry when he was shipped back to the minors. His contract with the Toronto management was most satisfactory and he was confident he would soon be back with the majors. While with the Brooklyn team he was dissatisfied and did not exert himself to play to the best of his ability. He improved when he went to the International league and it was owing to his sterling work there that President Thomas of the Cubs purchased him.

Gap at Short.

The shortstop rejoiced when he learned the Cubs had secured him and declared that he would make Ebbets and his constituents regret that they had tossed him away. He joined the west siders last fall and plugged the gap at short; that had been a source of extreme worry to Hank O'Day. At the same time he gave the Cub fans reason to hope for a stronger infield. Now they are willing to admit that with Fisher on the club it is greatly improved.

Manager Bresnahan did not enthuse over Fisher on account of his arm, which has not been right this spring and does not show any signs of getting much better. Fisher was a member of the Cubs several years ago, and while in New Orleans he threw his arm out, using baseball vernacular, and it has not been exactly right since, although he throws pitcher Ensign Cottrell, left-hander, has switched leagues. All National league clubs having waived on him, the Boston Braves have sold him to the New York Yankees. He threw his arm out, using baseball vernacular, and it has not been exactly right since, although he throws

STAGE RELAY RACE AT PENNSYLVANIA

College Champion on Track Gather for Big Athletic Carnival at Penn, Field Today.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Philadelphia, April 23.—Every intercollegiate champion entered in the University of Pennsylvania's relay race and athletic carnival, which opened today. More than a thousand stars of college track and field paths, including 325 relay teams were entered. Philadelphia was turned over today to husky, red-faced youths wearing sweaters, waving college pennants and shouting college yells.

The meet will close tomorrow night.

Meredith, Pennsylvania, the winner of the quarter-mile championship; Speiden, Cornell, mile champion, and Hoffmire, Cornell, the winner of the two miles, will be in their respective relay races. Braun, Dartmouth, the high hurdle champion, will run in the 60-foot while Ferguson, Pennsylvania, the long distance champion, will be seen either in the low hurdles or in one of Pennsylvania's relay races.

Beatty, Columbia, the winner of the shotput; Oler, Yale, the winner of the high jump, and Mordell, Dartmouth, in the broad-jump, the other champions now in college, will be in these events at the relay races.

The real feature of the presence of these men will be in their meeting of the best athletes of the Middle West and of the Pacific Coast states. Bancic, Chicago, the Western Conference intercollegiate champion, will be in the 100-yard dash, as well as Drew of the University of Southern California. The latter is the holder of the world's record at 9.85 seconds.

He has a wonderful record of having beaten 10 seconds for the 100 yard on eighteen different occasions. The Eastern hurdle men will find themselves in a position of Southern California, the Olympic champion, and the world's record holder, Ward of Chicago, who was second to Kelly last year at the relay races, and Cronley of Virginia, with a 15.2-second record, are other men who will oppose Braun of Dartmouth.

The field events will also find the present champions opposed by some of the very best in the country.

Oler, the present champion of the high jump, will meet Richards of Cornell, the Olympic champion. There will also be four or five other men in the high jump who have done over 6 feet 1 inch.

Today's program will consist mostly of events for local schools and colleges.

The only big event taken from Saturday's program will be the hammer throw, which will be held on Friday. Three other special events will be given today, the 56 pound weight for distance, the 440-yard hurdle and the hop, step and jump.

The program for tomorrow will be practically the same as usual. The regular high and preparatory school and colleges will be the same as in previous years.

WHITE SOX BREAK LOSING STREAK WITH LATE RALLY—BEATING ST. LOUIS 5 TO 4

Chicago, Ill., April 23.—Three singles, two triples and a passed ball brought the Chicago White Sox to life from their losing streak yesterday, when they won from St. Louis in a ninth inning rally, the score being 5 to 4. Until the last half of the ninth Collins was the only Sox to reach home through the effective pitching of Weilbrenner. The visitors had four runs off Jasper and Faber, in the ninth Schalk singled when the game looked lost, and then followed the batting rally that brought joy to the White Sox rooters. Blackburne singled and Roth hit for three bases, scoring two runs. Eddie Collins beat out a roller. Roth scoring and Collins advancing on a passed ball. Felsch grounded and Lowdermilk made a wild heave when he replaced Weilbrenner.

The fans celebrated the home coming of the Rowland club by ceremonies, including a big auto parade.

Cubs Lose.

St. Louis, April 23.—Errors and poor baseball allowed the St. Louis Nationals to defeat the Cubs 9 to 5 in a wavy game yesterday. Vaughn started and the poor support drove him off the slab. Meadows, the pitcher who wears glasses, was against him. Meadows, with his poor eyes, had enough to beat the Cubs. Standridge replaced Vaughn in the seventh. Doak finished for St. Louis.

WESTERN LEAGUE OPENS WITH 8 CLUB CIRCUIT.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Lincoln, Neb., April 23.—The Western League opened today. Inaugural games in all eight cities were promised big attendance. The Denver 1914 champions played here. Omaha at St. Joseph, Des Moines at Sioux City, and Topeka at Wichita. The only weak spot in the league was at Wichita, threatened with loss of its franchise. Denver has lost several of its former stars. Sioux City and St. Joseph are regarded as strong teams.

ERTLE WILL CLASH WITH SOLBERG IN MILWAUKEE ON APRIL TWENTY-SIXTH.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Milwaukee, Wis., April 23.—Johnny Ertle of St. Paul and Johnny Solberg of Brooklyn have been virtually matched to meet in a ten-round bout April 26. Tommy Sullivan, former featherweight boxer, who is now managing Solberg, has accepted the terms of the local club and has also agreed to make 116 pounds ringside as demanded by Ertle.

THE MONROE DOCTRINE.

Ever since James Monroe first enunciated his famous doctrine known to history as the "Monroe Doctrine" there has been serious contradiction as to its meaning and support. Just at present there is no need to assume anything sensational in the presence of Japanese warships at Turtle Bay. On the other hand, this is no time to dismiss the matter as of no consequence. There is no responsible government in Mexico; and Japan knows that, according to international usage, any protest must come from her, as it is Mexican sovereignty which is constructively infringed.

How much respect Japan may have for the Monroe doctrine no one can say, and the same is true of any nation disposed to take its own remedy in Mexico, or to cast envious eyes upon South America. The doctrine, in fact, has not the force of international law. It is as strong as we can make it, or perhaps, a little more accurately, as strong as the inducement to keep on good terms with ourselves, together with the cost of challenge.

It has been pointed out heretofore that the strongest guarantee of the Monroe Doctrine, other than the moral one, is the British navy. It was the British foreign minister, Canning, who suggested the policy to President Monroe. As the greatest landholder on this continent, it is entirely to Great Britain's interest to maintain the status quo, and to see that our wishes in that matter are respected.

Japan's policy in China shows that, like her western neighbors, she is not afraid of fishing in muddy waters if the fishing looks good. The British navy has its hands full at this time, and our own naval policy is not of a sort to deter discreet experiments, perhaps made to test about how much we would stand. Neither in the state department nor in the naval secretary's office is there anyone likely to display quick resentment, or to back it up with action of a peremptory character.

There is one way in which we can prevent the possibility of questions like this arising. It is not that we should spend more money on our army and navy, but that we should get better value for what we spend. To do this, we should cut out useless army posts and navy yards, reduce the pension bill by a third of its present overgrown proportions, through the means of the secret service, and adopt other effective expedients obvious enough if our statesmen cared for efficiency, or had the least sincere desire to check waste.

Some day there will be a ghastly bill to pay, and the mob no doubt will, as usual, hang the wrong people.

THE ONE MILL MONSTROSITY.

It is with pleasure that the news comes from Madison that the assembly has ordered the Ellington bill, which calls for a repeal of the one mill tax imposed for the benefit of the state university experimenters, to engrossment with a fair prospect of its passing that house. Never in the history of the state has a bigger farce been perpetrated upon the public than this same one mill tax. It has given the university unlimited means to further their experimental purpose of seeing how far they could push the taxpayers before the worm turned. It has made the office of president of our state institution of learning one of political requirements and has created the greatest university lobby that has ever been witnessed in any of the western states. True, the Wisconsin "idea" has been personified in the waste at the university as it has in the waste of sixty thousand dollars.

a year at the binding twine plant at Waupun and in hundreds of other rat holes the money of the taxpayers has gone to fill. There is a desire to curtail the efficiency of the university for lack of funds to properly conduct its administrative duties, but there is a growing sentiment that more business, more teaching of good sound common sense and less of theoretical doctrine and less politics would be a wonderful improvement up on University Hill. It really looks now as though this dream was coming true at last and the repeal of the one mill tax will be the first definite step in the right direction.

NEW DEFINITIONS.

There is apparently an excess of enthusiasm in the present legislature to protect the birds and beasts of Wisconsin by law enactment? The raccoon has now been declared subject to the law and a bill has been introduced which prohibits hunting this "beastie" from February 1 until November 1 the same year. The bill was concurred in by the senate last week. But here is another bill that goes the raccoon measure one better.

An enthusiastic Racine senator introduces a bill prohibiting the killing of squirrels in Racine and Kenosha counties for the next five years. If this law passes all the squirrels in the state can congregate in these two counties and eat up the farmers' corn with impunity. Nor has the silent and retiring clam been forgotten, and the arm of the great state of Wisconsin has been reached out to protect this latest recipient of favor in its damp home. A careful resumé of the game laws would convince the average hunter that everything except beetles and butterflies have been protected, unless it be the mosquito and fly. Thus far they have escaped and an open season is declared on them, and many communities are even giving premiums for the "swatting" of the latter. The game laws will take a new form this year, and perhaps it is a good thing. One requirement will be citizenship papers as a requirement for a hunting license if the measure introduced goes through, which means that the foreign element who have made hunting a farce and have preyed on wild and domestic beasts on private property, will not have the excuse of a license to back them up in the depredations.

To be pro-Allies or pro-German these days is sure to start an argument that sometimes results in unpleasant conditions. Better follow the safe and sane middle path and if you have fixed convictions keep them to yourself until certain of whom you are talking to.

Rock county is going to demonstrate to the rest of the state that it can grow just as good corn with just as big yield per acre, as any part of the country. The experience of the boy farmers in the past three contests have demonstrated that corn grown under certain conditions, of good standard seed, will bring wonderful results.

There is an old adage that April showers bring May flowers, but the question is, where are the April showers? However, as all signs fail in a dry season we may expect a deluge any time now, just to keep up the average.

TOOTH TALKS

Foods like nuts, or rice or wheat grains, must not only be cut, but must be crushed or ground finely. Have you ever seen an old mill where wheat or corn is ground into flour between heavy stones which work with a circular motion? The molars are the grindstones of the mouth. At the same time that the molars are grinding up the food, the saliva mixes with it and a soft pulp is formed, ready for swallowing. All kinds of food must be broken up and thoroughly saturated with saliva before being passed on to the stomach. Many people who suffer the tortures of stomach trouble of various kinds are the ones who neglected this simple little precaution. Don't let this happen to you. Chew! Chew! CHEW!!

SUPERVISORS CLOSE THEIR SESSION TODAY

County Board Adjourns This Afternoon After Passing Minor Resolutions and Appropriations.

The county board of supervisors adjourned shortly after two o'clock this afternoon, after being in session since Wednesday morning. The controversy over the system of highways in the village of Clinton was settled with the adoption of the report of the committee.

Committee number seven made its report on the liability insurance of county employees under the state laws. A motion to refer the report back to the committee until the January meeting was lost. It was then moved to appropriate $225 for the insurance of the county employees under the liability laws.

The motion of Supervisor Henry Austin to appropriate the sums of five hundred dollars toward the Jamesville and Evansville fair was lost by the vote of 4 to 4.

Instructions were given to committee number six to meet at least once a month to audit the accounts of the county highway commission and to make plans on the roads to be reconstructed from time to time.

It was voted to give the janitor, L. M. Nelson, a three weeks' vacation and $100.00 was appropriated for the services of a man to take his place during that time.

A resolution to purchase a sprayer, grader, scarifier and oil pump for use on county roads was passed and $725 appropriated for the purchasing of the implements.

The report of committee number six on bringing the roads in the towns of Edgerton, Johnson and Porter under the county highway system was adopted.

At the session yesterday afternoon, the board voted to purchase an automobile costing not to exceed $525 for the use of the county highway commissioner.

VISIT FISHER FARM INSPECTING CATTLE

PARKER PRAISES AMERICA FOR HER "ALMIGHTY HEART

There are two ways in which money is wasted every day in millions of homes—

1.—In the purchasing of cheap tea.

2.—In the using of too much good tea per cup.

To get full value for her money—to stretch a dollar to its utmost capacity, in buying the thoughtful and experienced housewife will buy tea of the better qualities, knowing that a pound of such tea will make $30 to 400 cups—certainly an economical beverage.

Arbuckle Brand Tea is "first crop" tea—the very best cup quality. Their rare and satisfying flavor, and delightfully fragrant bouquet are not duplicated at the same price.

You can get the particular variety you prefer—from China, Japan, Ceylon, India, Formosa, Java—Pan Fired, Basket Fired, Oolong, Young Hyson, Gunpowder, Imperial, English Breakfast, Mixed Green and Black—any variety—always one good quality—at a moderate price.

In 1 lb., 1/2 lb. and 1 lb. Canisters

The surest way to get good tea in good condition is to buy Arbuckle Brand Tea from your grocer. It is easy to make delicious tea from any variety.

FARMERS INTERESTED IN NEW ASSOCIATION

Agriculturists Will Boost Livestock Breeders' Association to Limit Prepare for Meeting.

There is every indication at the present time that the new Livestock Breeders' Association is going to be a success. Farmers in every part of Rock county are taking a hold of the work and are boasting of it. As a result, a large delegation is expected to attend the big meeting on May 22nd.

Van Etta, who was appointed chairman of the organizing committee of this new club spent Thursday visiting prominent breeders in the southeastern part of the county in the interest of this movement.

Near Avalon, E. R. Boynton is boosting the association and has been found willing to bring in delegations from his neighborhood to the meeting.

On May 22nd, the members of the organizing committee will be in session to plan the meeting.

Instructions were given to committee number six to meet at least once a month to audit the accounts of the county highway commission and to make plans on the roads to be reconstructed from time to time.

WOMAN'S PAGE

SIDE TALKS
BY RUTH JACKSON CAMERON

THE MEANEST THING.

A magazine has been asking its readers to answer that question. And I thought of it the other day when I sat in the headquarters of a medical charity.

I was talking to the secretary. She was telling me the struggle the charity was having to get the money for the necessary supplies. The doctors contribute their services free. In the middle of the conversation her eyes suddenly blazed fire, and color mounted up to her cheeks.

Riding In An Automobile and Accepting Charity.

"Listen!" she said.

I heard an automobile stopping outside.

She caught my arm and drew me to the window. "That woman," she said, "has come again and again in that automobile for treatment. What do you think of that?"

I found it difficult to select words that should be strong enough to express what I thought and restrained enough to express my property.

Do you know of anything much meaner, reader friend, than to accept charity when one does not need it in order to have more money for luxuries?

Do You Know of Anything Meaner Than Stealing Charity?

Personally I can't think of anything much worse. My three examples of the meanest thing one can do have hitherto been, to wantonly disappoint a child or an old person, to tell anyone the disagreeable things a third person has said about him, or to offer a man a drink when you know he is fighting the heat. I shall add stealing charity to my list.

Charity is the Right of Those Who Need It.

Heaven forbid that I should turn aside anyone who really needs charity from accepting it. Charity is the right of those who need it. They are only collecting a debt from the world. There is no degradation whatever in accepting it. I think we should all give when we can and receive when we need with the same undisturbed spirit. I know a generous woman whose gracious response to all thanks is "I know you would give to me if I needed it. Perhaps you will some day."

The only time when charity is a degradation is when those who do not need it accept it and then it is indeed trailing one's flag of self-respect in the dust, selling one's birthright for a mess of pottage.

Animal Jingles
FOR LITTLE FOLK
BY ALICE CLEW GALL

HOW THE ANIMALS MADE GARDEN.

Said Gracie Goose, "I rather think
That for my garden bed
I'll try to find something that is Unusual," she said.

"The things you other children chose
Were common as could be;
I mean to be original,
And plant baked beans," quoth she.

Her friends said, "No one plants baked beans,
Of course they will not grow."
"If no one ever planted them!"
Said she, "how do you know?"

"At any rate I mean to try."
And sure enough she got
Some baked beans from the pantry shelf
In big brown bean-pot.

But when her friends had gone to play
She ate them every one,
And planted un-baked beans instead
Said she, "I'll have some fun!"

The children all made fun of her,
Until one morning, lo!
What they supposed were her baked beans
Had started to grow!

They gazed upon those growing beans
In wonder and surprise;
Said they, "Perhaps it is a dream;
We can't believe our eyes!"

Then Gracie Goose said, "I don't know
A lot, by any means.
But since I've started gardening,
A least I do know beans!"

"Twas a pretty good joke, and I'm sure you were fooled,"
Said kindly old Mother McGrew;
"So don't be too ready to call people 'Goose,'
Or you may find they're wiser than you."

Heart and Home
BY MRS. ELIZABETH THOMPSON

Letters May Be Addressed To Mrs. Thompson, In Care of The Gazette.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: (1) I want to know whether a boy cares for a girl when she flirts around or acts quiet. I have tried both ways. In one way I act real nice, and why is it that a boy hardly ever asks for my company?

(2) Why is it that sometimes I see my boy friend and he speaks and laughs and talks to me, and other times he hardly speaks? I always act the same to him.

(3) Do you think it proper to walk the street on Saturday evening?

(4) How can I act to be very attractive to the boys? Flirty or not?

(5) I am considered very good looking. Do you think boys like girls because of their looks or actions?

GRAY HAIR BECOMES
DARK, THICK, GLOSSY

Try Grandmother's Old Favorite Recipe of Sage Tea and Sulphur.

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur, properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray; also ends dandruff, itchy scalp and stops falling hair. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle for about 50 cents. Everybody uses this old, famous recipe, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautiful dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

Dear Mrs. Thompson: Please tell me how to take sulphur and molasses and how often it should be taken. Do you consider it a good remedy?

Take one teaspoonful, half molasses and half sulphur, for three days; and then skip three days.

ENGLISH CHILDREN HAVE SOCK HABIT

The Helpless Kids in England Must Expose Their Dainty Knees to View for Fashion's Sake.
[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
(By Margaret Mason.)

The child is in London
With knees nude and bare
For stocking (how shocking)
Not one does it wear.

London, April 23, (By Mail to New York)—The two most joyous signs of Spring in England to the outside observer may be when the crocuses begin to peep through the sod and the gooseberries begin to fade from the limbs of infant Britain. Vesta Victoria's song "It's all right in the summer time, in the summer time it's lovely" applies beautifully to the shock habit for helpless kiddies. To be sure the sight of their little red and blue chapped limbs in the thick of the wet penetrating chills of a London winter seems almost touchingly innocent, but more uncomfortably than their possession does the infant owners. These sturdy little sons and daughters of old England trudge happily and unconcernedly along bundled up to the tips of their tiny red noses in fur from the knee up and from the knee down wrapped in childish innocence.

Nothing is prettier than a little rounded rosily dimpled leg emerging from a daintily white silk sock and one strap said to be a warm weather sock. England would only pull up puerile stockings when the snow begins to fall down it might help a lot toward doing away with the omnipresent adult sniffle and catastral chills.

These lovely warm sunny days the English child is as comfortably dressed as it is artistically. The little short waisted liberty frocks of pastel blue, green or rose alike and prettily smocked and broidered stitched in soft lace or sheer white with the smocking done in contrasting colors are quaintly appropriate to English childhood.

Adorable poke bonnets in the same pretty coloring show to advantage a top blonde curly, for unlike our American kiddies the bobbed hair effect is not being worn on this side of the water. The little girls all have their hair long and flowing over their shoulders and of course it curls when the sun is out, a kid's生。

The British boy, no matter how tiny, sports the bobbed effect also and wears a close cropped little bullet head proudly to the infantile fashionable world.

The David Copperfield and Oliver Twist suits so popular with our small boys all last summer are only just breaking in over here on David's native soil. The ever favorite sailor suit however, still reigns supreme as heretofore and is being out of fashion popularly.

In white or blue linen but at times with long trousers it is as becoming an attire for the small lad as anyone could wish. The long gray trousers, short black Eton jackets and round flat white collars of the Eton suits, for the older boys have little appeal to the American eye.

Military styles are inevitably sighted on every hand as well as on every small boy. The complete khaki outfit "just like father" are the rage.

The young little Highland costumes, the little delights however.

There are different costumes, including a black velvet jacket to be worn with the plaid kilt while others have a coat of covert cloth.

Either a tam with a feather have been affecting as their own are worn by the sturdy little imitation "Hoot Mon."

These costumes are by no means inexpensive. Some of them amount up to well nigh six guineas, or over thirty dollars including all the paraphilia of coat, plaid, coat, kilt,

"trousers" which is the delightful name for the trunks over here) plaid socks, heavy slacks, low shoes and the inevitable pouch.

WORRIED SUE.

(1) A boy certainly cares more for the girl who acts quietly. Unfortunately many men encourage girls to flirt and spoil for the momentary pleasure they get out of it, but instead of hating the girls they are disgusted with them. You are very young to have a boy ask you for your company, and besides you may have cheaperened yourself so much by flir-ting that one would not care to give you more time than it would take for the story.

(2) When men are with people whom they respect it is their custom to ignore or barely recognize flirts and cheap girls.

(3) No. It is a practice which stamps a girl as being common.

(4) Be ladylike, indifferent to boys and interesting. To be interesting you will have to be well informed and capable of doing almost anything dancing, playing tennis, cards and the piano. This will require a great deal of effort and study. The wise girl, however, of her world instead of boys, spends her early teens in becoming educated and attractive. It pays in the end because it is the only way to become popular. A girl's popularity does not last, however, unless she is reserved and self-respecting;

if she allows boys liberties they soon consider her as common as a dirty less educated girl.

(5) Because of their personalities.

A silly girl never has a pleasing personality.

(6) I am fourteen and I am in the second year of high school. Am I too young to go with boys?

(7) How can I gain a boy's love?

He does not seem to care much for me, but he winks at me and laughs.

(8) Why is it that when I am out boys whistle at me even when I am in a strange place?

IN TRIANGULAR DEBATE.

Fond du Lac, April 23.—Oshkosh,

Sheboygan, and Fond du Lac high schools will hold their annual triangular debate this evening. The Sheboygan team will meet the local affirmative team here; the local negative team will go to Oshkosh; and Oshkosh will send a team to She-

The question to be debated this year is: "Resolved, That the United States should Subsidize Ships Engaged in Foreign Trade." The local affirmative team comprises Messrs.

negative team, Messrs. Ellison, Ma-noon and McCoy.

This is the third year of the Fond League. Each school has been credited with two victories and as many defeats. Fond du Lac has won twice from Sheboygan, but has been beaten twice by Oshkosh. Previous to the formation of the league, Fond du Lac

The whole doctrine of Devoe Lead-and-Zinc Paint turns on these three points:

1. It is all paint and true paint.
2. It is strongest, and goes farthest paint.
3. It is full measure.

Because these three things are true, Devoe Lead-and-Zinc Paint takes least gallons for the job; looks best all the time; lasts longer.

LIMA CENTER MAN TRICKED BY WOMAN

He Bought Cigar Stand at Milwaukee and Says Boxes Were Empty.—Wants $600 Now.

Denying the allegations that for the sum of $500 he contracted to sell to Robert T. Welsh of Lima Center the cigar stand in the Colby-Abbott building at Milwaukee, a Mrs. N. Nemetz of the Cream City is the plaintiff in a suit brought by Welsh for $600 damages.

The Lima Center man charged that the woman was selling cigars, matches, candles, etc., when he met her and for the consideration of $500 promised to relinquish her good will and interests in the stand and fixtures.

She further represented to him, he claims, that her profits were $12 daily; that the cigar boxes at the stand were full of cigars, and that she was the sole owner of all the fixtures in the place. He says he turned over to her $400 in cash and gave her a promissory note for $150, together with a chattel mortgage.

Welsh now declares that the cigar boxes were empty, that she knew the business to be unprofitable and that she was not the owner of the fixtures, but that they belonged to the Colby-Abbott building.

Mrs. Nemetz makes an emphatic denial.

RELIC CAPTURED BY GERMANS IN FRANCE TRANSFERRED TO METZ.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Paris, April 23.—Reports have been received from the parts of Alsace occupied by the French that the Germans have transferred to Metz all the objects of art they have found in cities that have been or still are occupied by them in France and Alsace. Different objects dating from the sixteenth century were, it is stated, taken from Hattonchapel and Elain, some of them important statuary group by Richier. At the foot of Hautes-Vosges, taken by the foot of Hautes-Vosges, taken by the French, they are reported to have assembled paintings, sculptures, and tapestries of the renaissance, including notably the celebrated "Credence" by Hugues Sambin. These objects belong to the estate of the Spetz family of French nationality. Many rare porcelains were also taken. All these articles were duly inventoried by Professor Leinhaas, before they were removed.

It is also reported that the "Crucifix" painted in 1500 by Gruenwald, which was the jewel of the Colmar museum, has also been removed.

PLYMOUTH

Plymouth, April 22.—The regular afternoon service at the Plymouth M. E. church Sunday, April 25th, will take more the form of a Sunday school rally. There is nothing that Plymouth Methodists so emphatically needs just now as a Sunday school.

We have a fertile field, and, until now, entirely untilled; let us cultivate. The pastor will speak on "The Sunday School and Plymouth's Need." Others will be called upon to speak to their mind. Then it is hoped that the spirit of the meeting will warrant the organizing of a Sunday school and getting everything ready for study the following Sunday. This is a call to men and women, young people and children. We want you all present Sunday. Sermon in the evening. Subject: "The Lord Hath

The third quarterly conference of the Orfordville and Plymouth charge was held at the Plymouth church Wednesday. It proved to be a most delightful occasion. Seventeen people, members of the quarterly conference, gathered round the board, which had been marvelously weighted down with good things by the Plymouth ladies. A large vote of thanks was tendered these good ladies. The Orfordville delegates those attending from Orfordville were, Charles Taylor, John Beck, the pastor, Miss Ida Taylor, Mrs. Gaynor and son, Mrs. Cole and daughter, Rev. Perry Miller presided at the conference. After the usual business, the meeting adjourned to meet at Orfordville for the 4th quarterly conference, when the Orfordville ladies entertained in a similar way.

GERMANS VERY ACTIVE WITH AIRSHIPS LATELY.

Petrograd, April 23.—The Germans have been particularly active lately with the aeroplanes to the north of the Lower Vistula.

One day recently, although there was a heavy wind, fifteen German aeroplanes made a serious attack upon an isolated town in Russia where they supposed, apparently from the information of local spies, that the staff of the Russian army was located.

In the course of the afternoon during their repeated trips back and forth over the property, no fewer than a hundred bombs were dropped.

SMITHS GALORE AT MILWAUKEE MEETING

Shriners of Wisconsin Hold Convention Today at Milwaukee—Smiths Elected to Office.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

MILWAUKEE, WIS., April 23.—The Master Masons attained proper recognition today. They were the biggest thing at the semi-annual meeting of the Shriner's Temple, Ancient Order of the Mystic Shrine of Wisconsin.

There are Smiths and Smiths, to say nothing of Smynes, Schmidts, and Schmidts, but the biggest of them all is Dr. Frederick R. Smith of Rochester, N. Y., imperial potente of the Shriner's. He weighs 246 pounds. He was the guest of honor at the Shriner's meeting and to make sure he would "feel perfectly at home" a few local Smiths formed a "hand" committee. There was Albert Smith, Beecher D. Smith, Casper F. Smith, Charles A. Smith, Charles R. Smith, Clinton Smith, Francis J. Smith, J. C. Smith, Harry E. Smith, James A. Smith, John Mcgar, John J. Smith, John O. William Smith, Sidney M. Smith, William J. Smith, Jr., Sidney T. Smythe, John Schmidt, Herbert G. Schmidt, Paul A. Schmidt, Robert R. Schmidt, Henry Schmidt, Harry P. Schmidt, and Louis H. Schmidt.

A delegation of Milwaukee Shriner's met Dr. Smith at Hammond, Ind., this morning and with a number of Hammond Shriner's accompanied him to Milwaukee. He was welcomed by a reception committee headed by Gov. Philip, and escorted to the Hotel Pfister. Other members of the reception committee were:

Admiral C. W. Moore, Former Governor Francis E. McGovern, William George Thwaites, Major C. Bunde, Colonel Jerome A. Watrous, William Berger, John J. Hesch, Frank Meyer, James M. Hays, Emil O. Horman, William P. Kenny, John T. Jansen, David C. Owen, John E. Elred, Jr., John Campbell, Louis Kuehn, Louis Schneller, Thomas E. Baldwin, Walter Alexander, of Waukesha; Willard Van Brunt of Horicon; M. W. Cook of Racine; Archie D. Race of Darien, and William R. Bagley of Madison.

A banquet will be given in his honor this evening, after which he will attend in the Scottish Rite cathedral. He will take a late train for Dayton, O. Several delegations from nearby cities will attend the banquet, including a party from Rockford, Ill.

SNAP SHOTS

"He is the sort of fellow," said Eph Wiley yesterday in discussing his son-in-law, "who calls the waiter George."

When an officeholder stops fondling his constituency that indicates a corporation has offered him a job at a salary considerably in excess of that which he has been drawing from the public treasury.

Unless you are familiar with the circumstances which inspired his grief, it is difficult to tell whether a man has sorrow in his family, or the home team has lost a game.

The chief objection to the man who is going to the devil is that he is disposed to loiter along the way.

A woman never understands why her husband wants to read a newspaper when he might be talking to her.

It is easy enough for society to shock those who are not in it.

About the time a man reaches the age of 50 he begins to see insults in the papers to the effect that he is an old man.

Misinformation can give information a handicap of a hundred yards and beat it to the pole in a quarter mile dash.

In looking for Smart Alecks you will get better results if you confine your search to towns, having populations of 2,000 or less.

DAVID AND GOLIATH. (The Story)

Philistines and Israel confront each other once more. On this occasion the other once more. On this occasion the giant champion, Goliath is a descendant of the Anakim, who four hundred years ago terrorized the earth. This animated fortress moves out and from beneath the brazen dome of his helmet there rings out his insulting challenge.

The degenerate condition of Israel is apparent. Saul has forfeited the Divine favor. He can not expect a providential intervention. He tries the expedient of offering largesses to the hero who will accept the challenge. But the king's favor is contagious. For four days no one appears to pick up Goliath's helmet. Just ten miles away on those rough Judean steppes, a rustic lad tends his sheep. Fidelity to his homely task has developed noble traits. He drinks deep of the theocratic spirit; believes in the imminence of God in Israel's affairs. He keys his heart to victory. His courage is tested by personal combat with the giant. His foes to his flock. Nor is he altogether a rustic. He is a man of the world, of two or three years of age. But it never occurred to David as beneath him to carry some provisions to his brothers at camp. That lad, with his ten cheeses, was the greatest acquisition Israel ever had. His envious brother ordered him back to the flock. But from that moment he never again got back. Eliab was envious of understanding David. Not love of adventure nor desire for personal aggrandizement prompted his questions. No ill-tempered criticism dashed his spirit. The Lord's honor was at stake. He would fain vindicate it.

He is ushered into Saul's presence and seeks to cheer the despondent monarch. "Courage! thy servant accepts the challenge." It is pleasant to find a kindly touch in the peculiar character of Saul's first interview. Saul delegates David's command. When somewhat reassured by the narrative of his successful encounters, he clothes him in his own armor.

David no doubt felt the impracticality of wearing the armor but out of courtesy to the king, he allowed himself to be pampered. In a moment it was seen that the only quality by which he could hope to win—namely, dexterity—was lost. The nimble shepherd was hopelessly fettered.

He would be dashed to death if he came within reach of Goliath's heavy spear.

Now, without an ounce of armor, without a weapon but his crude sling, Israel's champion moves out beyond the line of battle.

His courage is unbroken. His trust in Jehovah is absolute. Purest patriotism burns in his heart. He will shrive his nation of disgrace and bring God's name of dishonor. By his deed this day he will save his people sunk in disgrace.

His confidence in his cause is based upon the power of his God.

The justness of his cause, the wickedness of his foe, the power of Jehovah.

But with all that, he takes the utmost care in the selection of his stones; his practiced eye sees to it that they are of right size and shape; he weighs them with a skillful hand; he takes care to have enough of them.

The shepherd had challenges our admiration. He is not Israel's hero only, but the world's hero and God's hero.

In advance of the Philistine stands that living tower, incased in brass. His armor-bearer holds his shield, round and blazing like the sun. Aloft his spear rises, like the mast of an admiral. A torrent of curses and epithets pours from his brazen throat. When he sees the foeman, so unworthy advancing, he lifts his visor in contempt, and throws back his head in derision. His daughter is David's opportunity. She is a girl whirling in air. There is the whiz of the speeding missile. The aim is correct, the point of impact sufficient. A shudder goes through the giant frame. With a crash, that living tower falls to earth. The giant's armor becomes his metallic coffin.

TEACHER'S LANTERN.

Living principles move before us in this thrilling scene. Goliath is type of entrenched and towering wickedness. Take the drink traffic, for example. Since the abolition of slavery it is the most gigantic vested evil of our day.

The encroachments of prohibition upon us are scarcely amount to more than the sticking of a nail in a pumpkin. This modern giant of Gath, incased in the armour of license law, or sheltered behind the shield of a tax, and entrenched in social customs, laughs at the host of Israel, while the blood of our sons and brothers drips from his horrid tusks.

The very insolence of public wickedness sometimes seals its doom. This generation will never forget Nast's inimitable cartoon depicting Boss Tweed's defiance to an outraged public.

"What are you going to do about it?" and what happened when it "all blew over?"

But money cannot buy a deliverer from this or any other public evil. Deliverers are born, not bought. Nations have sometimes offered monetary considerations for a national hymn. Germany did not get her "Die Wacht am Rhein" that way, nor France her "Marseillaise," nor America her "Star Spangled Banner."

The contrast between Eliab and David is striking. Eliab is a narrow-gauge man. He cannot widen his vision beyond the tiny flock of the Bethelehem meadow.

He deprecates the loss of a sheep, while a nation is in jeopardy.

He is utterly incapable of appreciating the patriotic motive of his self-oblivious brother.

This emphasizes the use of individuality.

David could not fight in Saul's armor.

He could not whirl his sling with an arm weighted with brass.

Every man must be himself.

He must use his own talents,

be his own self.

He must burst the shell of conventionalism.

He will never kill his giant until he does.

There are parallels to the Philistine proposition: most remarkable is that of the Horatii and the Curiaii to whom respectively were committed the destiny of Rome and Alba Longa.

Five miles out on the Appian Way they show you yet the five tombs of the two Horatii; then of the three Curiaii, who, following the surviving Horatii, by a reigned fight, were defeated by the Curiaii one by one.

The gigantic statue of Goliath is not apocryphal.

The Chinese giant Chang, was seven feet eight inches tall.

Charles Byrne, the Irish giant, measured eight feet.

A guard of the Duke of Brunswick stood eight and one-half feet. Goliath, at the maximum estimate of the cubit, measured nine feet and nine inches.

ANALYSIS AND KEY.

Philistines and Israel joined in battle.

The giant champion challenged.

Shepherd boy's visit to camp.

Proposes to accept the challenge.

David in Saul's armor.

Donned to prove its impatibility.

His real equipment.

Dependence upon God.

But "Keep his powder dry."

Unequal duel joined.

Dexterity surpasses strength.

Giant's armor, giant's coffin.

THE YOUNG PEOPLE'S DEVOTIONAL SERVICE.

April 25, 1915. Deuteronomy 19:19.

The Bible is the world's supreme book.

It is not enough to praise the Bible, to call it incomparable or even divine.

The Bible is to be obeyed.

Obedience is better than praise.

To literally bind it or to write on parchment or forehead or hand or tack it upon the door-post may be only to make a fetish of it.

The meaning and truth of the scripture is to be fairly incorporated in one's being.

This is done by close and devout study of it,

concerning it with the mind, concerning it with the heart.

By this means divine truth is assimilated until it becomes the rule of life.

One thus unconsciously becomes "light" and "salt."

He can no more be hid than the city on the hill. He becomes a "defender of the faith."

RUSSIAN SCHOOL BOYS HAVE THEIR COURTS TO MAINTAIN ORDER

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

Petrograd, April 23.—A Moscow newspaper states that the boys in the schools there have, on their own initiative, introduced a system of fines for breaches of good conduct.

The proceedings go to various funds for the benefit of the soldiers.

The boys themselves carry on the police work of detecting offenders, and they also attend to the collection of fines and the administration of the funds.

The sale of fines is as follows:

Late for prayers, two kopeks (A kopek is about half a cent).

Late for lesson, three kopeks.

Absent from lesson, two kopeks.

Receiving a bad mark, two to four kopeks.

Found smoking, one packet of cigarettes for the soldiers.

In addition to these fines, there are also certain "thank-offerings."

For instance, the boy receiving the best scholarship marks pays a thank-offering of five kopeks.

HIBBARD WRITES OF CONDITIONS IN PARIS

FORMER MISSIONARY TO JAPAN
TELLS OF CITY BEAUTIFUL
IN LETTER TO MRS.
LOWELL.

OFFICERS ARE STRICT

City is a Busy One, with Courts in Full Use During Daytime.—
People Talk War All the Time.

A very interesting letter, written by C. V. Hibbard, former missionary to Japan, and a friend of many Janesville people, and addressed to Mrs. E. W. Lowell of this city, is published below, through the courtesy of Mrs. Lowell. It contains valuable information concerning the strict court regulations, and the firmness of the officers in Paris. It reads as follows:

It is said that Paris is greatly changed since the beginning of the war. Certain it is that there are great and powerful currents of life and earnest teaching sweeping through the city to which even the stranger within the gates, though he speak an alien tongue, cannot remain wholly indifferent. Sometimes one is caught in some inconsequential little back water and set whirling round and round in a manner most perplexing.

The police regulations constitute one of these eddies of which the foreigner should beware. He has a general impression that there are more regulations of discipline in Paris than in any great city I ever saw. In times like the present, however, all these regulations assume of a sudden a new importance.

On my arrival I was told that foreigners remaining in Paris more than a week must have a "permit to reside issued by the police. Even since the war a good many have ignored this, but as we have a whole new aspect for the powers that be I went promptly to the police and secured the permit. When I wished to make a trip into the provinces I learned casually from a friend that it was necessary to have a "safe conduct." Again I complied with the regulations, but was inclined to mock at the cautions of my friend when I reached the station and had not had the required papers should not have been allowed to proceed. This gave a little jolt to the childlike confidence I had imposed in the handsomely endorsed passport, which is my inseparable companion.

About ten days ago I noticed certain bulletins in the French language addressed to foreigners. It appeared that the passport with the photograph attested by the state department was not sufficient identification and all foreigners of whatever nationality must have a "permit to reside," with a photograph of the bearer duly attested by the police. Thongs like those that lashed each to Peter at Pentecost joined each other all day long before the little photographers' shops, that offered twelve photographs for twelve cents. I caught out a man who had refused to so prostitute his art, and armed with a very good photograph, reported to the police of the district. I had the impulse to ask the photographer to paste the picture on the permit, but previous experience of regulations led me to reflect that as there were already copies on the paper, front and back, that there was no chance in eight that I should guess the right one and I refrained.

When I handed it in at the police station the officer threw up his hands and wished to know if I thought he had nothing to do but paste photographs on permits. I preserved a discreet silence in the two languages that I know and the incident passed, but when the postman with the photograph pronto arrived came to the hand of one whose duty it is to affix the seal of state he asked if I had made to the prefectoral police a declaration as an alien. I had heard rumors of this declaration before so I knew what it was, but I told him I had been informed that persons residing in the country only temporarily or not engaging in any gainful occupation were not required to make this declaration. He assured me of the contrary and very graciously wrote down the address of the office to which I must go to make the necessary declaration. As we had already reached the last day of grace before all these things were to be set in order I hastened to the address and found it was the wrong one. I found the right place after a little, but was too late to do anything that day.

By this time I had developed a good American grouch and decided to consult our consul before further abasing myself before the bureaucracy. In the morning the consul assured me that I must indeed make the declaration under law passed in 1870 or thereabouts. I was glad to know that it was not a mere caprice on the part of the man with the paste pot, but went off obediently to the prefectoral police office.

When I had penetrated to the inner court I found a mob of about two hundred and fifty aliens herded in a colonade like cattle in a chute. I joined the herd near the tail. There were Zechs, English and Swiss ladies' maids, Belgian refugees, Americans, Italians, Armenians, Alsations, Poles and others. There was a woman who looked as she had been taken off a Sunday school card. She wore a loose purple robe and on her feet only sandals. Near me was an elderly American woman and her daughter. The daughter must have forgotten to dust her face, for she was buried in powder. Presently she turned to me and asked in French if this was the place where Americans were supposed to report themselves. I answered in English that to the best of my knowledge it was. Presently she gave me a name. Then I noticed that the American mechanics near by who it appeared are putting in some mill machinery near here. Later another American who spoke French emerged from the crowd.

We stood for six mortal hours on end, packed in so that only a tall man could blow his nose. Near us was a Belgian about my age who slipped out of Brussels not long ago. He was a tall, thin, sallow-faced chap who had wandered far North from South America and most of Europe. He seemed to know all the great cities and was remarkably "wise." As the crowd pushed up it was easy to gain a little ground from time to time if one used his elbows. After entertaining us for a while he departed in the way he had come through the crowd, unostentatiously gaining an inch here and six inches there until he was a good five feet ahead of us.

Then the people gathered around French well, and as intervals an official came out and harangued us, after which some went home each time. It looked as if he was telling how busy he was, but I gathered that he explained certain regulations with out having performed which it was useless to wait one's turn. About fifty people at a time were cut out from the front of the herd and allowed to go up the stairs to wait there until they could be cared for. When finally I was near the front a policeman on the stairs beckoned to some one below and the whole mob of five hundred surged forward and for a minute it looked as if the police had lost control. They were rough but fairly good natured. I saw one policeman brace his feet against a door post and throw his shoulders into the crowd with all his strength. Just behind him was a woman and she was right. She had been killed, but she was not though she was a good deal shaken up. I asked him when I should do when I got to the door if he tried it on me, but when I came along he must have been repentant for he didn't try it; instead he said pleasantly enough, "That is right, be tranquil." Once inside the operation did not require more than five minutes, though I nearly struck a snag when I was asked whether I should do when I got to the door if he tried it on me, but when I came along he must have been repentant for he didn't try it; instead he said pleasantly enough, "That is right, be tranquil." 50c EACH FOR LETTERS FROM WANT AD USERS

Have you ever used the classified columns of the Gazette for any purpose whatsoever?

The majority of you have. And the greater part of those who have, have had good results.

The Gazette will pay 50c in cash to the writer of a letter telling of his or her success in advertising on this page. Each and every one who brings or sends us a letter telling their story as interestingly as possible, will receive this amount.

It does not matter what you advertised for. If you had something for sale, for rent or for exchange. If you wanted a house, a position, help, or anything else, send in your letters.

Your neighbor will do it and we want you to.

Give also the date your advertisement appeared in the Gazette and send the advertisement itself in your letter.

BETTER PAYING CROP.

If young men who have been sowing wild oats wish to make amends and make good their losses, let them sow tame wheat.—Chicago Daily News.

FORTY YEARS AGO

The Janesville Daily Gazette, April 23, 1875.—We had a large arrival from the east this morning, in the person of Dr. James L. Thayer, the clown, who will grace the ring of Burro Robbins' circus this season. The doctor weighs 212½ pounds and is the biggest fool in the circus business. Let him put on lights and step into the ring and whether he tells a joke or not the people will be convulsed into laughter. By the way, the doctor's father was an old resident of this state and was in Janesville as early as 1836.

Prof. Bischoff will go to Oshkosh Sunday to dedicate a new organ in the First Methodist church of that city. Al Kavelage, the official phonograph reporter of the circuit has arrived in the city from Milwaukee.

There will be a special meeting of the common council this evening at which Mayor St. John will deliver his inaugural. The matter of licenses for selling liquor will be fixed tonight.

The ladies of the Temperance Union were quite successful last night in their spelling contest in securing financial help to place some new volumes in their reading room.

A spelling contest between All Souls church and Court Street Methodist church will take place on Monday evening. A great deal of interest which may be taken in the match which may likely be the last one of the season.

Amusements

(Notices furnished by the theatres)

AT THE APOLLO.

Blanche Sweet in "The Warrens of Virginia."

On Monday the Apollo Theatre will present for the first time on the Paramount program a popular and leading film star who has already made for herself a name in photoplay. Blanche Sweet in the Lasky-Beasco production, "The Warrens of Virginia."

Those who have seen Miss Sweet in this picture predict a wonderful career for her. The management has not raised the price on this feature in spite of the large cost as he wishes everyone to see Blanche Peters play the leading male role opposite her.

"The Warrens of Virginia," with Blanche Sweet, created a stirrable sensation at the Strand Theatre in New York. But, great though the enthusiasm of the general picture-going public has been, it is not to be compared with the truly wonderful reception accorded the production by the Grand Army of the Republic.

A body of two hundred grizzled veterans of '61 all in uniform, attended an afternoon performance, and were uniformly loud in their praise of the film, not only as the most superb and stupendous war spectacle ever witnessed but also because of its fine human and sympathetic qualities. These veterans were the first to applaud the impartial attitude of the production, which concerns itself not at all with the arguments about the war, but seeks merely to present the full scope of that devastating tragedy, as much from the confederate as the union point of view.

AT MYERS THEATRE.

"The time, The Place and The Girl"; "Miss Nobody From Starland"; "My Cinderella Girl"; "The Girl Question"; and "Lovers and Luminaries" will be presented at the Myers during the engagement of the La Salle Musical Stock Comedy Company which opens a three day engagement starting Monday. This company numbers thirty five people cure the first breeding bull by breeding the sire back to one of his daughters.

Nictus of Fine Dairy Herd.

In order to secure the best results the bull and the cow should have the same general conformation. In no other way can we secure prepotency than by inbreeding.

If we think there is danger of carrying the inbreeding too far and fresh blood is desired, it is not necessary to go outside the family to preserve the vitality, for the infusion of the new blood of a first or second cousin may be as fresh and vigor giving as that of one not related, and there will be no danger of losing the permanency of the established functions of the family.

MANAGING THE KICKING COW

Animal Can Be Handled Successfully
If One of Front Feet Is Tied Up by Means of Strap.

If a cow kicks during milking it is said that she can be handled successfully if she is tied securely and one of the front feet held up by means of a strap reaching around her body just back of the shoulder.

Slip a common snap on the strap and let it hang down below her belly. Buckle the strap closely, then take a small strap with a ring on it and buckle around the cow's right front leg just above the hoof. Then draw her leg up, and snap to the ring. As soon as she steadies down she may be milked without the milker being in danger of being kicked.

In the course of time the strap can be dispensed with and the cow, having been used to being milked without causing trouble, will no longer kick.

REASONS FOR COW TESTING

Enables Farmer to Discard Animals
Not Paying for Board—it Is Plain Common Sense.

A few of the many reasons for cow testing are:

It enables the farmers to eliminate cows that do not pay for their board.

It saves many a good cow from the shambles.

It is an encourager of good feeding and good care.

It gives the farmer an opportunity to build up a good producing herd.

It increases one's interest in dairying as a business rather than as a means of labor merely.

In short, it is plain common sense.

Be Kind and Gentle. Care includes kindness, regularity in feed, water and milking, as well as the quarters. But above all be kind and gentle. If you have a cow that it is not possible to be kind to (and there are a few such unregenerates) better fit her for beef, than to worry along with her because the profit will not be nearly so much as with a cow responsive to kindness, aside from the worry they are to the milkers.

Warts on Teats. The ordinary, small, scabby wart is generally quite easily cured by smearing it with pure olive oil, sweet oil or carbolated vaseline. If, after treatment of this sort for several weeks, the growth does not disappear, it may be necessary to cut it off with a pair of sharp scissors and touch the sore with a stick of caustic potash. This treatment should be followed up with olive oil or vaseline applications.

Worth of Thought. It is not always the depth or novelty of a thought which constitutes its value to ourselves, but the fitness of its application to our circumstances. —Sewell.

BIG MISTAKE OF DAIRYMEN

Young Bulls Disposed of Before Thoroughly Tested—Dehorning Greatly Modifies Temper.

One of the greatest mistakes that dairymen make is that of disposing of breeding bulls while they are young and before their get is tested by work in the dairy.

Some of the very best bulls are discarded when two or three years old. This is due, in many instances, to farmers being afraid to handle them after they have reached that age. Dehorning greatly modifies their temper, if it does not completely remove all their vicious tendencies.

Horns on a bull are a constant menace and should be removed, then he need not be sacrificed before his breeding value becomes known.

We must depend upon inbred bulls if we are to secure the transmission of the qualities of our best cows to their progeny, and it is best to es-clude the first breeding bull by breeding the sire back to one of his daughters.

In order to secure the best results the bull and the cow should have the same general conformation. In no other way can we secure prepotency than by inbreeding.

If we think there is danger of carrying the inbreeding too far and fresh blood is desired, it is not necessary to go outside the family to preserve the vitality, for the infusion of the new blood of a first or second cousin may be as fresh and vigor giving as that of one not related, and there will be no danger of losing the permanency of the established functions of the family.
